The programme is offered in two formats: a one-year intensive track and a two-year programme. It equips students with the knowledge and practical competencies in key areas of corporate and financial law, preparing them for careers as corporate lawyers, legal advisors, or litigators working in cross-border litigation, arbitration, and mediation.

Students gain in-depth insight into the interaction between law, finance, firms, and markets, with a strong focus on the European Union legal framework and its global context. Graduates develop the analytical and practical skills required to navigate corporate transactions, financial regulation, and dispute resolution in an increasingly international legal landscape.
